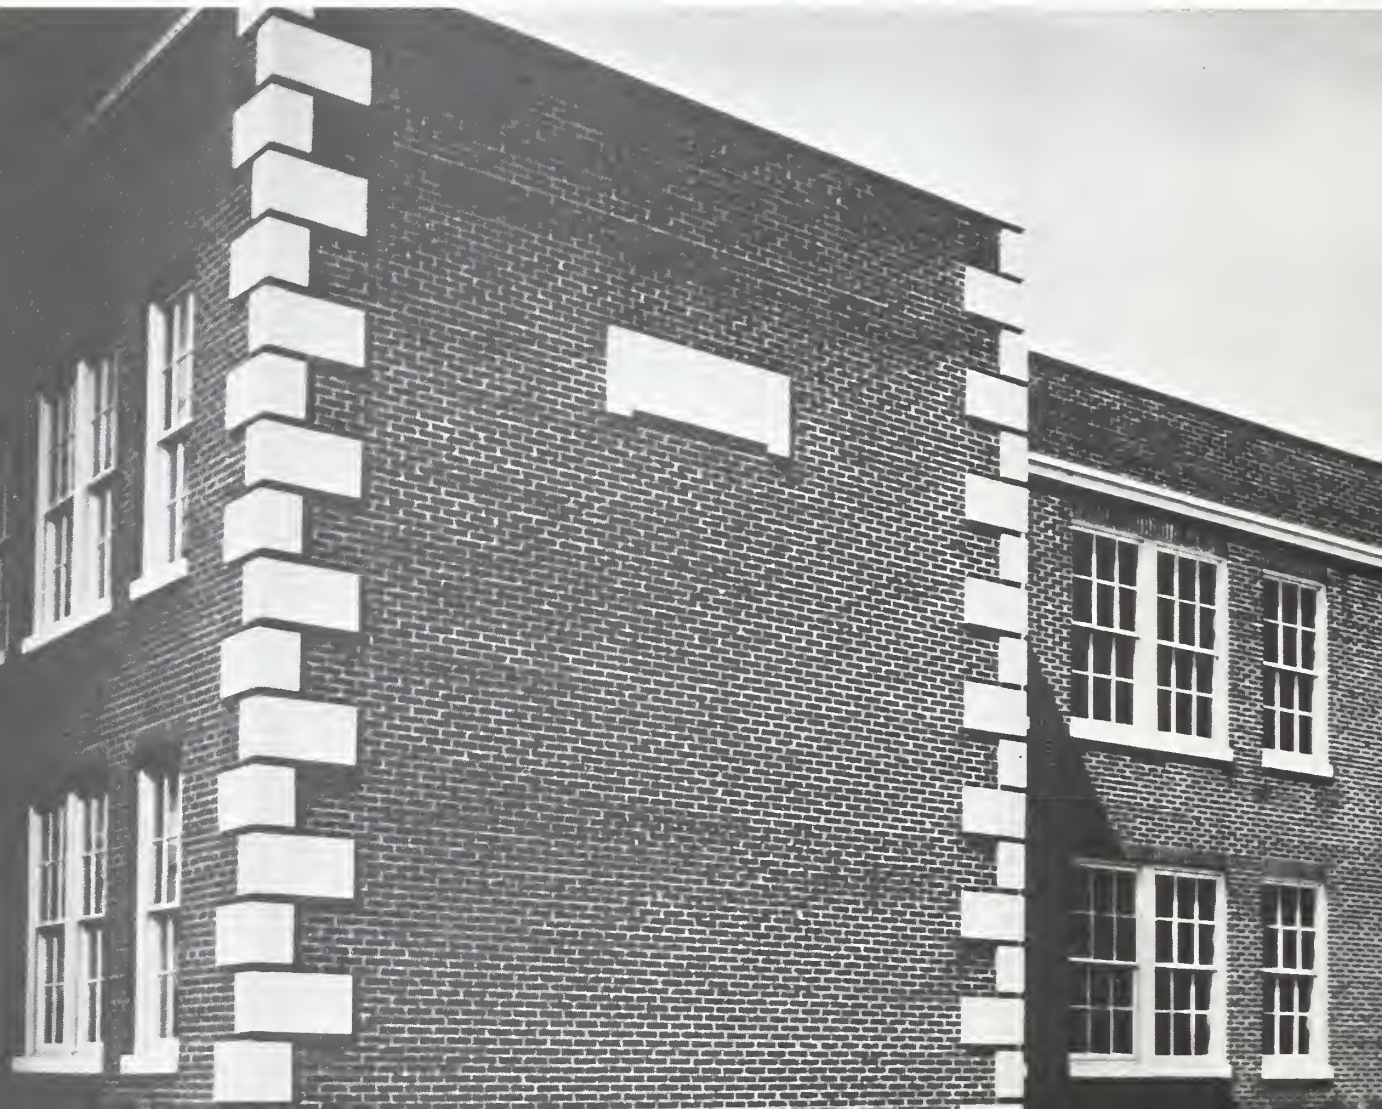
Dedication

The selection of the recipient of a yearbook dedication is always a difficult task. The person chosen must necessarily display unusual qualities: devotion to his chosen profession, interest in his students, and a desire to serve the school in all its aspects.

Many of those connected with Morganton High School possess all these characteristics in varying degree. Yet, above all others, one teacher embodies these requisites to the fullest.

This member of the faculty seems to take creative pride in the education of others. This teacher seems to know the students of Morganton High as individuals and, to each, is a source of sympathy and advice. This teacher serves the school in many ways—through her regular work, through sponsoring an organization and—more than that—helping its members carry out their projects, and through assisting at all school functions. For thus exemplifying all the qualities of the rare teacher, we, the staff of the 1964 Cat's Tale, dedicate our annual to Miss Rosalba Pascal.



Alma Mater

Administration

School Board

Under the able direction of Chairman J. O. Barbour, the School Board strives to keep the Morganton City Schools operating effectively and efficiently. Aided by the knowledge and experience of Superintendent M. S. Parham and Supervisor Otis R. Peterson, the Board makes its decisions in the best interests of all the students in our school system.

Secretaries, Mrs. Carol Anderson and Miss Martha Noggle.

Superintendent, Mr. Maston S. Parham; Supervisor, Mr. Otis R. Peterson.

Mrs. Lee, secretary, ably assists the principal.

Mrs. Lee administrating.

Administration

The responsibility of keeping MHS functioning smoothly lies with our competent principal, Mr. Schiebout. In fulfilling his duties, he has the invaluable assistance of Mrs. Lee, whose friendliness accounts for her popularity among the students. Throughout the year both have worked assiduously to improve our academic standing and to maintain an amicable atmosphere in our high school.

Mr. Schiebout, our principal, works hard to maintain a high academic standing at MHS.

MRS. MAXINE AMOS
Gen. Math; Gen. Sci.; Girls' P.E.

Prettiest coach at MHS. Undaunted spirit. Insight into the problems of her students. 'Specially fond of Smith Specials. Congenial personality.

MR. RAYMOND BABELAY
Band; Gen. Music; Chorus

Likeable. A refreshing outlook toward his profession. Has initiated an upsurge of interest in music. More school spirited than students.

MHS

MRS. MYRTLE BEACH
Librarian; Library Science

Delights in the unexpected. Travel enthusiast. Soft-spoken. Never too busy to help an inquisitive student. A real regard for her profession.

MISS MARY BLAYLOCK
Latin I, II; French II

Widely traveled, widely read. Gourmet. Pleased with her new classroom. Emphasizes the cultural facets of foreign languages. Memorable teacher.

MR. EARL BROOME
Civics; W. History; Head Coach

Genial tease. Stimulates laughter and hard work in class and on the field. Invariably assigning oral talks. Stickler for dates. Ubiquitous!!

Faculty

MR. BILL CAROWAY
Gen. Sci.; Boys' P.E.

Welcome addition to the coaching staff. An everpresent grin. Habitual attire—gym shorts. MHS class of '5-. Intrigued by scientific research.

MR. MARTIN CHAMPION
Economics; Geography

A coach of champions. Tolerance for the vagaries of the teenager. Supplies information beyond the textbooks. Sly sense of humor. A golfer.

MISS JENNY EASON
Spanish I, II; English III

Exemplifies chic. Insists on order in her classroom. Plagued by her fourth period students. Contemplating a move to Marion. Blonde bombshell.

MR. RICHARD HAWORTH
Physics; Algebra I, II

Personable and popular. Well-versed in math and science. A car of many colors. Sets matchmakers scheming. Guitarist. Accumulates cartoons.

MRS. MIRIAM HOLMES
English II

The defending champion of the junior class. Mainstay of the Anchor Club. An extrovert. Inexhaustible. Working to raise our cultural standards.

MRS. SELENAH HUFFMAN
English I, II; Civics

Our newlywed. A cheerful giggle. Finally has a classroom of her own. Friendly and good-natured. Appreciates students who are eager to learn.

MRS. LOUISE KIDD
English IV; Algebra I

"Wicked" woman. Fascinating tales. Mothers the entire senior class. Those excursions to the mountains! Lives life to the fullest. Balladeer.

MHS

MRS. FRANCES LAY
English III; Geography

Possesses a quiet dignity which warrants the respect of all her students. Considerate. Conducts enjoyable classes. Impressive bowling score.

MR. DAVID McKINNEY
Biology

Gentle sense of humor. Everyone's favorite. Aspiring M.E. Affable. Miscellaneous collections collector. Proud papa. Holds the students' interest.

MR. ALEXANDER NEELY
Ind. Arts; Voc. Training

A diversified craftsman. Complacent. A traveler at heart. A familiar sight at every athletic event. Enjoys teaching co-operative students.

Faculty

Home Ec. I, II, III

A Future Homemaker. Bubbling personality. Sympathetic to all the predicaments of her students. Her youthful appearance belies her position.

MISS ROSALBA PASCAL
Guidance Counselor

Seniors keep her in a constant dither! Competent. Gold-panning aficionada. Well-informed. Inspires confidence and admiration in all students.

MR. ROY PITTS
Gen. Math; Algebra I; Geometry

Very particular about his duties as a teacher. Won't tolerate any private discussions in the back of his room. A former student teacher at MHS.

MR. FRED PUTNAM
U. S. History; Civics

The one and only "Put." Has unique but effective methods of teaching. Indispensible to Sears & Roebuck. Controlling interest in the senior class.

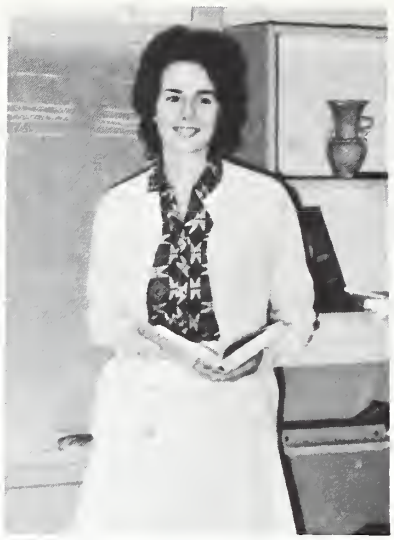
MRS. DORIS ROBERTS
Typing I, II; Shorthand; English I

Keeps the Cauldron from boiling over. An out-going personality. Occupied by journalistic activities. Great conversationalist. Respects courtesy.

Faculty

MR. ALBERT SETZER
Chemistry; Biology

Patient and understanding. Thorough grasp of his subject. Up-to-date on scientific developments. Clarifies the incomprehensible. MHS alumnus.

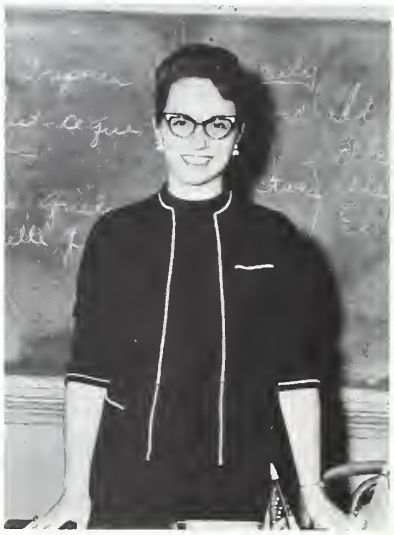


MISS ELAINE SHERRILL
Typing I; Bookkeeping; Bus. Math

A striking addition to the MHS faculty. Former cheerleader. So calm, so efficient. Annoyed by inattentiveness. A secretary turned teacher.

MR. CHARLES SNYDER
Acc. Math I, II, III; Pl. Geom.; Sr. Math

Erudite. Calls a spade a spade. A Yankee drawl. Knows his students as well as his subject. Prefers television to test papers. Football fan.



MRS. PATRICIA TALLANT

Gentle mien. Tries to commute from Hickory. Quickly learning the ways of high school juniors. Dotes on her Tennessee Walker and her Afghan. Reserved.

Cafeteria Staff: Elizabeth Harbison; Hester Carson; Mrs. Helen Watson, dietician; and Mary Fleming.

Cafeteria and Maintenance Staffs

Maintenance Staff: Luberta Lambert, Doc Patterson, and Frances Howell.

Freshmen

Freshmen

We begin our high school life as freshmen. Our fond memories of Junior High start to fade as we enter MHS. At first we are able to find our way only by a few recognizable landmarks, and getting lost is no unusual occurrence. Our feelings of insecurity and inferiority are offset by the realization that we have attained a position in a more mature world. In awe we watch upperclassmen busy with studies and club meetings. Even our old friends, the sophomores, seem infinitely more sophisticated and worldly-wise than we.

But as we overcome this initial bewilderment, we begin to see the true face of MHS. We realize that the intellectual challenge, the practice of leadership, and the plain ol' fun that have been the rights of every class before ours are to unfold in our next three years at Morganton High.

Sophomores

Now we are sophomores. With our position in high school assured, we are able to begin developing as distinct personalities. Many of us acquire that coveted driver's license and then gleefully chauffeur our younger friends. And there is always that indescribable joy we derive from looking down on lower classmates.

Yet we find that life is not all play. After our biology classes, we reek of formaldehyde. As have the classes before us, we discover that Latin II, with the incomprehensible Julius Caesar, is all Greek to us. And we find ourselves reluctantly spending many hours puzzling over the intricacies of geometry and a multitude of World History dates.

All in all, as our second year at MHS draws to a close, we can look with justifiable pride at our efforts to become more mature and responsible individuals.

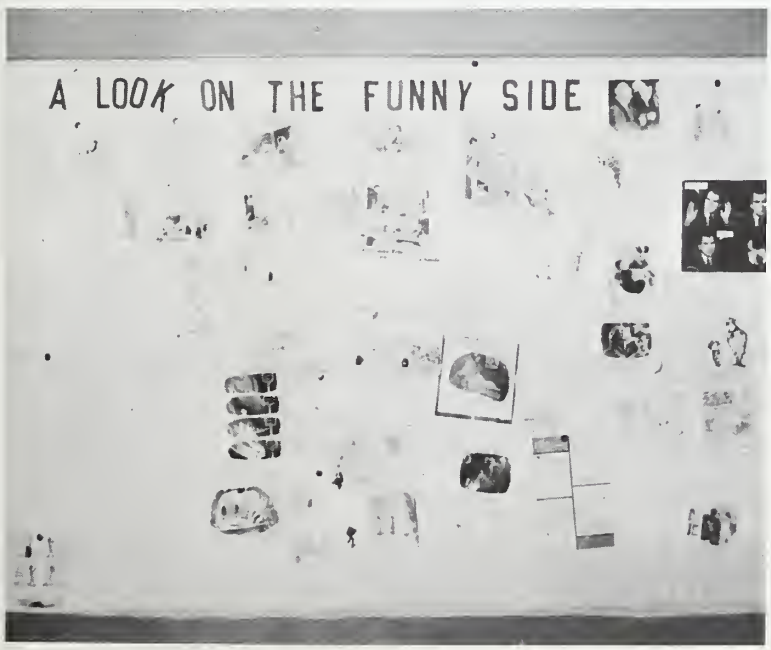
MHS is proud of its newly-organized stage band.

Younger "letter girls" anticipate the day when they will receive blazers.

Come on, girls! One more chorus of "Little Rabbit Frou-Frou."

For some reason, Mr. Haworth's bulletin board is especially popular.



Juniors

Juniors

Perhaps we have anticipated no year so much as this. At least we are upperclassmen. We are beginning to take an active part in various organizations and sports at MHS.

But if we entertain any thoughts of our importance, we quickly abandon them. Excellent teachers present their subjects as constant, and humbling, challenges. We soon find ourselves in a world peopled with Thoreaus, Daltons, Priestleys, and all the fascinating characters that we meet in our studies.

There is a lighter side to being upperclassmen, too. Though we complain loudly, we really enjoy working in concession stands at home football games, for we know that our efforts will finance our Jr.-Sr. Decorating for this gala affair is yet another enjoyable experience. Through this year we discover a richer, more adult life.

Our commercial courses offer, among other subject matter, instruction in the operation of modern typewriters.

The exchange of pictures often disrupts classes.

Juniors get initiated, too.

Work on this publication requires time and organization (?).

Seniors

Senior Class Officers: Vinton Rollins, treasurer; Marie Kirksey, secretary; David Riggs, president; Johnny Powell, vice-president.

Seniors

Almost before we realize it, our senior year is upon us. We stop in amazement, not fully comprehending the responsibility of our new position.

Adjustment is slow, but gradually we acquire proficiency in being the leaders of the student body. With this new skill comes the recognition that those cliches about seniors are true: we are studying exacting subjects; we are on the go every minute; we can't help paying attention in English IV; we do find a bitter-sweet pleasure in our last high school experiences.

We watch our childhood slip away in a series of little episodes, insignificant in themselves: our last pep rally, our last football game, our last class election, our last Junior-Senior—that final burst of glory before the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" fill our ears.

MARIE ELAINE ANDERSON

Joyous member of the Homecoming Court. Bowling buff. Quiet, reserved president of the Library Club. Likeable.

JONATHAN SHUFORD ARNEY

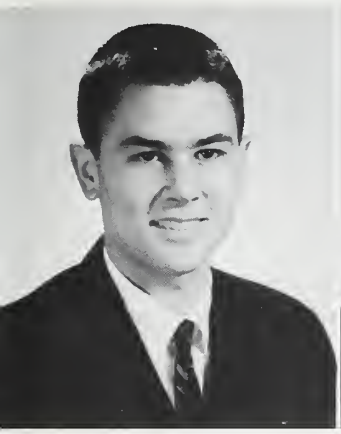
"Jonny Einstein." Deliberate manner. Practical jokester. Commands great powers of concentration. Flyin' high.

PAULETTE GRAY BAUGUSS

One-time Morgantonian returned. Lacks a fondness for math. Don't go near the water! Takes great pleasure in books.

JOE EDWARD BEACH

Good-natured, sincere. True appreciation of learning. Indispensable. Prized Marlin. Shoots for high goals.



JOHN WALTER BEACH, JR.

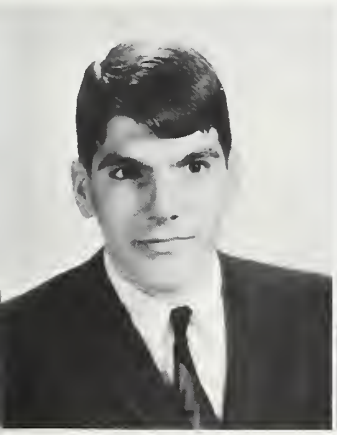
"Wash." Immaculate.————, dark, and handsome. Fun-loving and talkative. Racks up the mileage. Future engineer.

DOUGLAS WILLIAM BEAM

Polite, popular with many females. Under that calm surface . . .! Savors Santo's cuisine. Ever in high spirits.

DAVID WESLEY BIGGERS

"Wizard." Good-looking and intelligent. Has a way with women. Devilish grin. Cinderella's Prince Charming.



HUGH ELLIOT BIGHAM

The notorious "Ef." Byronic. Can release a devastating reserve of charm. The beach —the call of the wild!

SONIA HILL BOUNOUS

Always in a stew over the Cauldron. Known for her giggle and her blush. Amiable and outgoing. A flair for clothes.

Class

of 1964

LINDA SUE
BOWEN

"Bowen." Thrilled with her contact lenses. Desires to help others through a nursing career. Exasperated by males.

SANDRA GAIL
BRASWELL

Gentle voice and gracious manner. Respects authority. A conscientious church worker. Librarian. "What?"

DAVID HUME
BROTHERS

Junior Birdman. Ambitious, helpful, and more than a little loquacious. Demon on water skis. Gentleman.

CAROLYN JANET
BROWN

Concordant, talkative. Once drove "Put" into a tree. What's a "Hubert?" Looks forward to instructing the little 'uns.

DANIEL LEE
BUFF

An authority on "archducks." Proud possessor of a draft card. He may not be so big, but . . . ! Carrot top.

HARRILL DWIGHT
CARSWELL

"Coog." What would he do without women? Will remember those sessions after school. Wildcat halfback and shortstop.

ELIZABETH PITTS
CASH

"Libby." Subtle charm, aristocratic demeanor. Classic. Inherent taste, immeasurable talent. Quiet—once upon a time.

DONALD LEE
CAUSBY

Baby-blue eyes. Beau Brummel. Joe's favorite customer. Barely eluded embarrassment Halloween. Wine, women, and song!

HAROLD ALEXANDER
CLARK

"Tweety Bird." News-Herald executive. Makes ends meet for the annual. Can talk his way out of anything.

STEVEN MICHAEL CLARKE

"Dip." An individualist—especially in matters of attire! Devoted to the underclasses. An enterprising prankster.

WANDA DREWLENE
CLAY

"Nitwit." Olive skin, amber eyes. Revels in reading and records. Spelled her middle name wrong for thirteen years.

JAMES EDWARD CLIPPARD

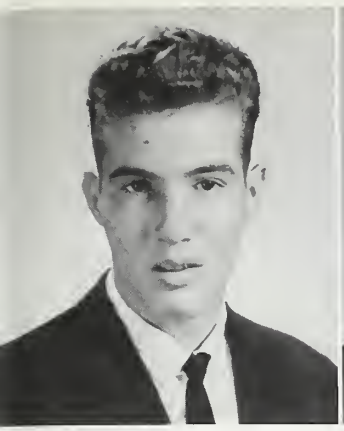
"Clippard." In search of a girl who can outtalk him. Active Latin Clubber. Takes kidding with good-natured grace.



ROBERT WAYNE COFFEY

The delight of third period English. A nimrod and an angler. Ardent movie fan!! Eagerly anticipating graduation.

PAUL BRADSHAW CRUTCHFIELD, JR.

Impeccably British. Mortimer. Tries to keep his sins secret. Projects the Key Club image. University of the South.

PATRICIA ANN CURTIS

Thoughtful nature. Secretarial aspirations. Her presence adds much to Honor Society and Anchor Club. "I declare!"

DAWN MARIE DONAHUE

"Cookie." Poised and purposeful. Capably heads cheerleaders and annual staff. Lone female physics student. Gypsy rig.

JOHN JOSEPH DOUGHER

Solid's sleeping beauty. Envisions greenbacks. Tall, lanky addition to the basketball team. A touch of wit. Pool shark.

BRENDA GAYLE DRURY

"Droopy." Involved in top military secrets. Proficient pianist and organist. Lured to Clearwater Beach. Goldilocks.

VIRGINIA GRACE DUNCAN

Great admirer of masculinity. Paul! Irked by superiority complexes. Once headed the B.A. fan club. Secretarial career.

MARY SANDRA ERVIN

"Sandi." Dainty and doll-like. Spends countless hours creating. Commutes to Carolina. An extensive wardrobe.

WALLACE EVANS

"Rusty." The Music Man. "If music be the food of love, play on!" A tranquil soul. Jr.-Sr.! "As I was saying . . ."

Class

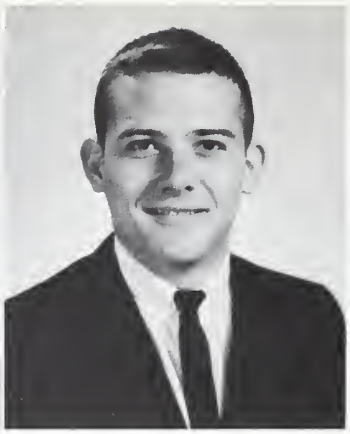
of 1964

SUSAN RAYE FERGUSON

Wholesome beauty. Even disposition. Ever-changing coiffure. Chauffeurs all in her station wagon. Gifted in design.

GENE LEE FETHERBAY

"Slick." A firearms fiend. Prospective patrolman. Enjoys "raising it." Playing hooky doesn't pay.



DUNCAN RANDALL FRYE

"Randy." True Southern gentleman. 'Cat's catcher. Trying to make Queen's a co-ed college. Man-about-town.

JOHN HAMPTON GILES

"Toad." Face split by the biggest grin in captivity. Husky he-man. Hopes to follow in Arnie Palmer's footsteps.

IRIS LEE GRAYBEAL

Radiates charm. Lovely voice and gracious smile. Appreciates a good sense of humor. Miss Homecoming 1963.

SUSAN BARNES GUPTON

Aware of education's importance. Life centered around her her own family. Master monogrammer.

BETSY MARTIN HAIRFIELD

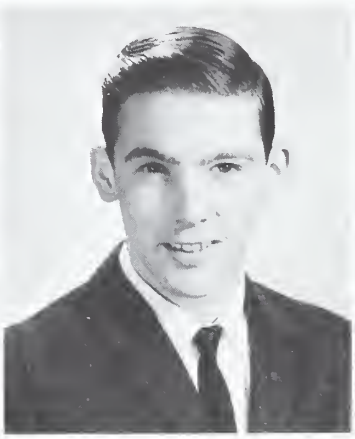
Meticulous manner. Amicable. Talented in sketching and designing. Johnny! Haunts the mailbox. Pensive.

HARRIETTE ROSE HARDIN

Occasionally runs into romatic complications. Many experiences at the Cascades. Always in Fashion.

SYLVIA GALE HAYNES

"Gravel." First-chair clarinetist, noteworthy soprano. Planning a career in music. Matter-of-fact way of speaking.



ANDY McGREE HERN

Self-sufficient. Has become quite a correspondent. Bus stations can become blush stations. A patron of the Pit.

GENEVA SHIRLEY HISE

Small in stature. Always into something. Impresses all with her quiet ways and genuine concern. Peeved by pests.

JUDY KAY HOLLIFIELD

A sweet, sensitive manner. Philosphical. True to her friends. Worthy aim—to work with retarded children.

LOIS ANN
HUSKINS

Quiet and shy. Gets her dates confused. Sewing and secretarial skills. "Don't put off what you can do today."

INMAN

Unpredictable, unassuming, unbelievable. Tall tale teller. Has put her personal imprint on popular dancing.

JOHNSON

Honorable member of the Society! Adored by innumerable Girl Scouts. I remember Mama K. Erase that incriminating tape!

THOMAS FARRELL

"Snoozle." Long-limbed. Tommy, the Disreputable Bus Driver. Prefers a Plymouth when off duty. "You don't say!"

PAULA IRENE
JONES

"Teny." Enviable blonde curls. Suffers from acute telephonitis. In need of a portable gas pump. Put's own "F.T.A."

SANDRA LOU
JONES

Coquettish. Confessed gold-digger. Peaches-and-cream complexion. Clumsy with Cokes. "Fish sticks."

BARBARA LYNNE
KANOY

A pert flirt. An unmistakable air of mischief. Gets into more predicaments! Wide range of men from which to choose.

CARROL LYNN
KENDRICK

"Thumb." The things that happen to her! A character if there ever was one!! Always has a feller.

JOHN VANCE
KENDRICK

One of Morganton's sky scrapers. Fancies himself as a family man. Believes that cars and girls do go together.

Class

of 1964

MARIE KATHRYN KIRKSEY

Warm, spontaneous personality. Irrepressible. Spirited cheerleader. A concern for others. Holds down the Anchor Club.

SANDRA VINCENT LANE

Modest and retiring. Counts her first date as her biggest thrill; getting her license, her biggest mistake.

ANDREW MARTIN LANG

Senior Class Poem

Time, that circus troupe that dances on
And bids us follow where we cannot,
In the end leaves us with a joy
Its music has evoked.

On the curb we stand and strain our ears
To catch the notes that waft back.
Across the growing void.

A calliope tune perhaps,
Recalling giddy crowds,
Forgotten triumphs,
The throbbing beat of youth.

Or the tragicomic refrain
Of the sad clown,
Reminding us of first love,
Budding friendship,
And imminent parting.

Wiser we leave our street corner
And sadly embrace a world
That has forgotten carnivals,
With circus memories in our heads
And Time's song on our lips.

Senior Class History

With our graduation close at hand, we gratefully acknowledge the importance of our four-year stay at MHS. Of indisputable value is the formal education which we have received during this period. But equally worthy of consideration are the social and intellectual maturity which we have achieved and the fond memories which have been indelibly etched in our minds.

Early one morning in September of 1960, we first made our appearance as a group in the now-hallowed halls of MHS. Not extremely sure of ourselves, we freshmen wandered confusedly around in search of our next class. However, in the normal succession of fast showers and slow dances in P.E. and walking down the middle stairs where we should walk only up, we gradually became accustomed to the everyday routine of high school. One of our first privileges was the election of the following officers: Allen Plaster, president; Eddie Beach, vice-president; Joan Racunas, secretary; and Bennie Smith, treasurer.

Our sophomore year found us somewhat wiser, somewhat surer. We underwent the unique experience of "quality education" and found much fun dissecting frogs and much difficulty dissecting Caesar. Many of us became club members and enjoyed the dubious frolics of initiations. Our school spirit rose; we took great pride in our undefeated football team and in that year's officers as well. They were David Riggs, president; Martin Lang, vice-president; Joan Racunas, secretary; and Vinton Rollins, treasurer.

As our junior year began, we realized with pleasurable surprise that we were finally upperclassmen. This was the year of bedlam in English III and hard work in the concession stand at football games. Our long hours of preparation and toil resulted in a marvelous Hawaiian Holiday, the theme of our Junior-Senior prom. The selection of marshals for graduation was another landmark of this important year. Those students, chosen for their high scholastic standings, were Dawn Donahue and Eddie Beach, chief marshals; Sandra Ervin, Betty Hill Pitts, Susan Settlemyre, Bennie Smith, Paul Crutchfield, Dennis Lookadoo, Vinton Rollins, and Gene Seals. Leading us through this year of varied activities were the following officers: David Riggs, president; Johnny Powell, vice-president; Joan Racunas, secretary; and Dave Messmer, treasurer.

At long last we became seniors, leaders of Morganton High School in scholastic endeavors, club activities, and athletics. Freshmen now respected us just as we had respected those seniors of four years past. Life was further enriched by our struggles through Macbeth and by our 8 o'clock history sessions. In addition to learning activities, the enjoyment of our senior year was immeasurably increased by a thrilling 8-2 football season, climaxed by a victory over our arch-rival Hickory. The football team's four captains were David Riggs, Johnny Powell, Johnny Giles, and Allen Plaster. Moreover, many of us anxiously awaited answers from the colleges of our choice. The officers who guided us through this year of seniority and decision were David Riggs, president; Johnny Powell, vice-president; Marie Kirksey, secretary; and Vinton Rollins, treasurer.

On a certain June evening in 1964, a long-awaited occasion, our graduation, takes place. Mixed emotions—joy, sorrow, regret, and hope—accompany this event. However, we rest assured that the wisdom and maturity gained during these four years will stand us in good stead in all our future endeavors.

With this small comfort in mind, we, the class of '64, pledge eternal faithfulness and loyalty to Morganton High School, our beloved Alma Mater.

Last Will and Testament of Senior Class of 1964

We, the 1964 Senior Class of Morganton High School, being of sound mind (?) and body (?), do hereby bequeath our most precious possessions to our posterity. Although they may be meager, we have treasured them and hope that their recipients will do likewise.

Article I: To the faculty and Mr. Schiebout, we leave our heartfelt thanks for all the help and guidance they have given us these past four years. We hope you will have fond memories of us as we have of you.

Article II: To the Freshman and Sophomore Classes, we leave our unequaled desire to become upperclassmen. Although it may seem an unattainable level, you will reach it all too soon; so make the most of all your four years at MHS.

Article III: To the Town of Morganton we leave our unforgettable spirit and safer, less cluttered streets and sidewalks.

Article IV: To the Junior Class as a whole we bequeath our "special" senior privileges – the few that exist; and to our immediate posterity, the following special talents, abilities, idiosyncracies, and desires:

We, Joyce Williams and Sabra Sperati, leave our knack for looking tres chic in whatever we wear to Libby Elkin, who would look good even in a paper bag.

I, Sandra Jones, hereby relinquish my part-ownership in Taylor Pontiac Company to Carolyn Cantrell, who seems to deal in Pontiacs also.

We, Lynn Nusz and Judy Penland, leave our old colored pencils, crayons, and charcoal to Pat Norman, Barbara Abee, and Judy Nusz.

I, Ralph McGill, leave my special seat in Put's U. S. History class to Sammy Depew, Stewart DeVane, or Tommy Simmons. Scramble, boys!

We, Donald Causby, Hugh Bigham, and John Dougher, leave our title, the "Three Stooges of MHS," to Charles Fisher, Gregg Hardin, and Bill Patton.

I, David Brothers, leave my ability to make a perfect landing to Bill Gifford.

I, Susan Ferguson, relinquish my position in the cab drivers' union to Kathy Roberson, who seems to have a crowd of her own to chauffeur around.

We, Susan Wilson and Johnny Giles, leave the book, The Art of Getting Along, to Sandy Brenneman, who needs to learn how to manage with a certain person.

We, Betsy Hairfield and Libby Cash, leave our left-over stamps and unused envelopes to Becky Smith and Janice Erwin.

I, Dave Messmer, reluctantly leave Kay Thorpe.

I, Vinton Rollins, grudingly abandon my last handful of pinched pennies to those dedicated and parsimonious Key Clubbers. Leslie Farfour and Dicky Williams.

We, Mary Ann Smith and Rusty Evans, leave our musical abilities to Patsy Morris, Johnny Patton, Ernie Copenhaver, Clark Craver, and Linda Hoyle.

I, Iris Graybeal, leave my good looks and winning ways with the opposite sex to Judy Smith.

I, Betty Hill Pitts, leave my calorie counter, vibrating machine, and steam cabinet to Beth Hooper, who is trying to shed a few pounds herself.

I, Sybil Stephens, leave my worn-out riding habit to Mary Helen Whisenant.

We, Jane Mallonee and Judy Hollifield, leave our cute, pert ways to Sharon Ferree, Jane Coley, Angela Strickland, and Betty Clark.

I, Ryma Scott, leave my talent for flirting with other girls' boyfriends and getting away with it to Judy Williams.

I, Susan Inman, leave my ability to adapt to any situation with great ease to Beatrice Rivers and Lynn Tolbert.

We, Carole Steele, Wanda Clay, and Teny Jones, leave our ability to look "neat as a pin" at all times to Marie Mull, Susie Spencer, and Evelyn Walker.

I, "Cotton" Whetstine, leave my agreeable disposition and ability to take a joke to Jack Stroupe, Joe Puett, and Kenny Kincaid.

We, Sharon Oliver and Paulette Baugess, leave our ease at adjusting to life in a new school to Pam Bradley, Marty Oliver, Patricia Thombs, and Doris Johnson.

I, Kay Young, leave my eye shadow, mascara, and eyeliner to Andrea McNeely and Ginger Steele, who may want to add a few more colors to their collection.

We, Jimmy Johnson, Wayne Coffey, and Gloria Perkins, leave our fond anticipation of graduation to Richard Puett and Ervin Sisk, who are, we know, really anxious to quit these hallowed halls.

We, Steve Clarke and Doug Beam, leave our love for all girls everywhere to Ronnie Morris and Ronnie Shuping.

I, Blaine McNeely, leave my place at the radiator across from Mr. Setzer's room to Herb Speas, but he must supply his own girl!!

I, Jean Ward, leave my ability to know exactly what is going on to Janie Hicks, who knows even more than I do.

I, Susan Shoemaker, leave my place in the Honor Society to Freddy Lee, who could do with a little more honor.

I, Allen Plaster, leave my easy-going ways and good looks to Keith Rusmisell.

I, Adair Nichols, will to Jeanne Hairfield my insidious knack for creating a disturbance in such a way that no one knows I'm responsible.

I, Johnny Powell, leave my reputation as the "nicest guy in the class" to Miller Sigmon or Eddie Bristol, either of whom could fill the bill.

I, Bobby McCall, leave my secret identity (the thumb tac ghost in 3rd period English) to David Scott, Gary Parker, and Ned Pearson.

I, Janice Poteat, will my friendly personality and non-stop mouth to Jane Butler, who may be able to take my place.

I, Deanes Sbort, leave nimble fingers at the typewriter to Billy Grady, Gary Mabe, and Garry Melton.

I, Sandra Ervin, leave my wardrobe – a different outfit for eacb day of the year – to Mary Carolyn Sanford and Linda Brown, wbo scarcely need it!

I, Brenda Jobnson, leave my love of Home Ec. to Matoka Dale and Jerroll Stamey.

I, Harriette Hardin, leave my place at the Rec to Sbeila Walker. Save a place for me when I return.

We, Mickey Patton, Mike Tomberlin, and Dennis Lookadoo, leave our good fortune in always coming up with the answers to Put's history questions to Eric Orders, Rod Orders, Scott Connelly, and Dicky Farr.

We, Johnny Kendrick and Austin Phillips, leave our biography, The World Below, to Tim Walker, James Piercy, and Travis Snipes.

I, Elaine Anderson, leave my place in the Library Club to Steve Warren, Roger Hollifield, and Sonnie Pendley.

We, Arnold Phillips and Charles McNeely, leave our ability to look as though nothing is on our minds to Henry Dickens, Michael Petrie, and Phil Dees.

I, Ricbard Wallace, leave my road map of Burke County to Bobby Bigham, who can be seen most everywhere in bis VW.

I, Buzz Tolbert, leave my captainsbip of the basketball team to Dean Finch.

I, Woodrow Tolbert, leave my place between the sbelves at the A & P to Richard Jones, Jobn Cbapman, and Gary Goodnight. Try not to break any bottles!

We, Dean McMabon and Harrill Carswell, leave our Elmer's Quick-Drying Glue to Jerry Grady so he can mend all bis broken baseball bats as we did.

We, Lois Huskins and Brenda Parton, leave our desire to become secretaries to Sylvia Suddreth, Kay McMahon, and Gloria Crump.

We, Patty Ratcliff and Ann McLean, leave our love of nursing to Sheila England and Soundra Goodnight, boping they will become equally intrigued.

I, Sandra Braswell, leave my collection of bairstyles to Ann Grubb, wbo always seems to come up with a new coiffure of some sort.

We, Brenda Drury, Pat Tallent, and Sandra Lane, leave our love of driving to Emily Hemphill and Barbara Randall.

I, Larry Devinney, leave one worn-out bicycle and newspaper carrier's bandbook to Garry Brown, Willard Burns, and Danny Cooke.

We, Rose Newton and Shirley Hise, leave our contagious smiles to Belva Suttle and Joyce Fleming, boping they will take those frowns from their faces.

I, Ann Curtis, leave my quiet way of accomplishing important things to Sarah Leonbardt, Elizabeth Pittman, and the McCall girls (Diane and Edith).

I, Gayle Haynes, leave my fond memories of those "rocking band trips" to Kay Fetherbay, Kay Woodie, and Robert Patton.

We, the gang in the store, leave spilled cokes, upset trashcans, and squashed sandwiches to James Murray and our beloved Put.

I, Gene Seals, leave my abiding interest in sports to Mark Robinson and Steve Copeland.

I, Gene Fetherbay, leave my lead foot and a reputation for being fast in an automobile to John Anderson, Larry Reid, and Ricky Roper.

I, Carrol Kendrick, leave my expertness at letting people know I'm around to Connie Hall, Sheena Willis, and Barbara Franklin, wbo seem to be having some difficulty.

I, Andy Hern, leave my unfillable void to Dane Pritcbard, Lawrence Barrier, and Emmett Brittain, wbo can certainly try, but can never replace me.

I, Jimmy Clippard, leave my pbilosophy, "better late tban never," to Brenda Bingham.

I, Nancy Summers, leave my aspiration to become a beautician to Wanda Keller, who ought to follow in her sister's footsteps.

I, Tommy Johnson, leave my bus and Betty Coffey to Jack Mathes.

I, Grace Duncan, leave my unparalleled admiration for members of the opposite gender to Sylvia Hogan, Wilma Rockett, and Faye Waldrop.

I, Doris Ollis, leave my petite stature to Brenda Keaton.

I, Paul Crutchfield, will my faithful (?) Mortimer to Judy Finger so that sbe may ride to scbool in ber accustomed fashion.

I, Martin Lang, leave the unpalatable offerings of a certain eating establisbment to tbe Sanitation Board, consisting of Gene Williams, Barry Whetstine, and Ted Williams. Try not to develop a queasy stomacb!

I, "Tweety Bird" Clark, leave my ability to keep my tail featbers from getting ruffled when I'm perplexed to Linda Houston, wbose feathers bave a tendency to scatter in all directions.

I, Danny Buff, will my book, Shortness Can Be An Asset, to Roger Turbyfill, Jimmy Arney, and Tommy Beach. Tbey will grow by leaps and bounds wben they read it.

I, Jerry Liebhart, leave my reputation as the boy wbo has everything to Scott Cutting, wbo is rapidly acquiring that distinction.

I, David Biggers, will my rules for the Mr. America contest to Gene Grigg and Mike Houpe, who are planning to enter the competition next year.

I, Johnny Beach, leave my neat, clean-cut appearance to those "real neat cbaracters," Steve Mast and Roby Braswell.

We, Jon Arney and Eddie Beach, leave our skill of inventing theorems tbat even Mr. Snyder can't figure out to John Weller, Bill Lennon, Frank Brown, and Billy Arnold.

We, Patsy Taylor and Barbara Kanoy, leave our title, "Jimmy Clippard's girlfriends," to Jo Ann Cbapman and Daphne Allman, who are looking for "cboice" nicknames.

I, Brenda Price, leave my important position on the basketball team to Lorraine Johnson.

I, Randy Frye, leave my faculty for snowing all the girls with my smooth Southern drawl to Jobn Reece.

We, Nadeene Webb and Linda Lou Smith, leave our sweet faces and quiet dispositions to Eloise McAulay, Sara Jean Stamps, and Martba Ann Abee.

I, David Seitz, will one slightly snow-bogged jeep to Henry Seitz.

We, Susan Gupton, Gloria Ward, and Mary Whisenant, leave our favorite song, "A Diamond Is a Girl's Best Friend," to Brenda Ledford and Elaine Propst.

We, Sonia Bounous and Dawn Donahue, leave to Betsy Brunson and Sarab Vernon, two brains completely exhausted from trying to find new ways of saying the same old things. Good luck, girls!

I, Susan Settlemyre, bequeath my problems with men—which are bopefully on the way to solution—to Norma Lang, who can cope with them even if tbey don't work out.

We, Priscilla Williams and Sandra Martin, leave Judy Whisnant with the hope that our trio will be back together soon.

I, David Riggs, leave my love of sports and ability to play any type to Jimmy Deutschle and John Warlick.

I, Marie Kirksey, leave my attribute of being able to smile at any situation to Peggy McGimsey, wbo needs to learn bow.

I, Bennie Smith, leave my likeable personality and friendly, out-going manner to Liz Connelly.

I, Robert Salsbury, leave my capacity for getting better looking with each passing day to Johnny Peeler and Mike Irvin.

I, Tommy Watts, leave my perseverance and ambition to Danny Jackson and Walter Roberts.

I, Linda Gail Smitb, leave the scbool in a cloud of exhaust fumes.

Senior Class Prophecy

Recently I had the strange experience of entering a small odds-and-ends shop, where three old ladies muttering a chant were gathered around a small pot. The last line floated through the hazy air: "Boil thou last i' the charmed pot . . . Morganton shall grow whe'er ye like it or not." Then everything disappeared except a brand new newspaper which I began to read. It was dated Monday, May 28, 1984; Tommy Watts was editor, and David Seitz was business manager. I have prepared a resume, which could be of interest to MHS students.

"Today's newspaper honors the tenth anniversary of Morgantropolis. We are presenting pictures by Jimmy Clippard, our ace photographer, and articles concerning some of the founders of this, the largest city of the United States. Unfortunately Lois Huskins, our roving reporter, is in Hawaii completing a travel feature. Our nursing consultants, Patty Ratcliff and Linda Bowen, are on vacation. The remainder of our staff has compiled this Progress Editorial.

"Morgantropolis Chamber of Commerce secretaries, Brenda Parton and Paula Jones, have announced that the population of Morgantropolis has topped 10 million. In the line of advancements, Betty Hill Pitts, Chairman of Pitts Unlimited, has just authorized the building of Morgantropolis's second skyscraper taller than the Empire State Building. Ralph McGill, architect, stated that construction will begin immediately. Sandra Ervin plans to rent one floor as an art studio and showroom. The retired army recruiting officer, Steve Clarke, has already arranged to lease a penthouse (for what, is anyone's guess!).

"The social experts Marie Kirksey, Sharon Oliver, and Dennis Lookadoo have done a magnificent job in keeping juvenile under control. They are so successful that Judy Hollifield may even have to abandon her Child Behavior Clinic.

"In the world of medicine, Dr. Dave Messmer, specialist in treatment of unhappy wives, and Dr. David Riggs, veterinarian, who treats does with faulty appetites, have just opened a new office building. Their nurses Judy Penland and Mary Rose Whisnant have had to become Wives' Tears, Does and Oats specialists. Wanda Clay has developed a Do-It-Yourself Appendectomy Kit. The famed psychoanalysis duet Susan Shoemaker and Libby Cash recently suggested that Doug Beam, Randy Frye, and Janice Poteat, three of Morgantropolis's richer citizens, purchase the Riviera for diversion. Dr. Jerry Liebhart has developed a testor for treatment of tired teeth.

"Innovations in Morgantropolis have been numerous lately. Danny 'Carrot Top' Buff, the naturalist, has developed blue carrots, and his business manager Harriette Hardin says that sales are uncommonly low. Nancy Summers and Elaine Anderson have invented a hair-washer-curler dryer. To quench his thirst for security, Allen Plaster has perfected a fallout shelter available in spray cans. The brilliant chemists John Powell and Dawn Donahue are producing a success serum, which makes the user feel successful, if nothing else. Ryma Scott and Carole Steele own a small factory that will manufacture these and other crackpot inventions. Kay Garrison Young diverted from the usual and invented a mouse feeder.

"Transportation problems are being rapidly solved by citizens of Morgantropolis. David Brothers and Jon Arney, aeronautics tycoons, have designed a new type of aircraft, the XX Rab, which will be test flown by Robert Salsbury. Incidentally, Sabra Sperati has begun her job with B&A as airline stewardess instructor. Linda Gail Smith owns an exclusive Monorail connection between Morgantropolis and Chapel Hill. Adair Nichols is prospering in her Rent-A-Car firm, which caters to the legion of carless high school girls. Tommy Johnson is producing ultramodern school buses.

"The business highlights of last week include many Morgantropolis founders. Vinton Rollins, Treasurer of the United States, has accepted plans for a nuclear powered electric plant for this city. David Biggers and Johnny Beach are physicists who won the contract from Gene Seals. (Dr. Seals unfortunately dropped his data into his cyclotron.) Business manager Harold Clark of City Loans & Foreclosures said that Hugh Bigham, Jr. is planning to grant a loan to Andy Hern. Andy is planning to open one of his office supply and book stores, to be operated by Bobby McCall, here. A Taste-A-Vision franchise was awarded to Shirley Hise and Patricia Tallent, who will begin sales immediately. Their secretary Grace Duncan quoted extravagant prices on these sets. Millionairess Sandra Jones is still trying to fill her new department store. (It outdoes Macy's 10 to 1.) Patsy Taylor and Barbara Kanoy have already moved in with a dress shop featuring Paris originals. Ann Curtis owns a world-famous candy shoppe. Jean Ward, recent purchaser of Montgomery Ward, has chosen to locate her mail-order house in the Jones Building. J.R. Ward catalogues, illustrated by Mickey Patton, will soon be distributed. A Morgantropolis interior decorating team, Sonia Bounous, Susan Ferguson, and Joyce Williams, have completed the remodeling of the White House.

"Education in Morgantropolis is soaring to unprecedented heights. Nadeene Webb, president of L'arn 'Er Webb College, has just announced two new faculty members. Carolyn Brown was hired as Dean of Women, and Susan Inman is Professor of Advanced Russian. The education of children of foreign ambassadors and merchants used to be a problem, but a huge school has overcome the obstacle. Arnold Phillips is history teacher and coach; Brenda Johnson teaches Home Economics; Bennie Smith teaches Driver's Education; and Lynn Nusz specializes in Nuszian Geometry. Carrol Kendrick has come up with another Morgantropolis first: she tutors tutors. Woodrow Tolbert has cashed in on a hangout for new students. He has hired Gene Fetherbay just to keep traffic in line at Woody's. Harrill Carswell, former racetrack owner, has begun a school for taxi drivers.

"Culture has come to Morgantropolis to stay. This city's network, M.B.C., is broadcasting two new programs. The Hurters, an answer to The Nurses, features Martin Lang as Dr. Slipp, and Ann McLean, Rose Newton, and Linda Lou Smith as his unregistered nurses. The Teachers stars Blaine McNeely as principal, and Susan Wilson and Iris Graybeal as teachers. Susan Gupton, the network's business manager, said that these programs should receive top rating. Stage drama can now be accommodated at the gigantic Bauguss and Williams House, owned by Priscilla and Paulette, of course. A symphonic production by the Morgantropolis Philharmonic will be held at the B&W tomorrow night. Conductor Rusty Evans has announced that Gale Haynes and Mary Ann Smith will make a joint debut. In the art gallery at the B&W, the noted sculptress Sandra Braswell will unveil her modern masterpiece, 'Exclamation in Bronze.' Meanwhile, chef Doris Ollis plans to share with the world her recipe for baked squid.

"A Morgantropolis trio of affluent citizens is entering into a venture to purchase and import the Louvre from Paris. Susan Settlemyre, originator of the plan, made her fortune with an exposé of student life in Morgantropolis. Betsy Hairfield, 'Picasso of the United States,' contributed her millions quite painlessly. The Shakespearean scholar Eddie Beach not only gave money, but also bought a ship for the transportation of the museum.

"Books by Morgantropolitans include these: Passing Drivers Tests Made Simple, by Sandra Lane; Parent Psychology, a book for teenagers, by Dr. Jane Mallonee; and Goldilocks, a five-act play, by Brenda Drury. Sandra Martin, author on hair styles, has promoted Gloria Wright Ward and Gloria Perkins to form Gloriana Hair Fashions, including her articles about crude male beauty operators.

"Of course, no city would be complete without its sports activities. Mike Tomberlin, a notable Morgantropolitan, recently swam the Atlantic. Dean McMahon and Deanes Short are planning to organize a local big league baseball club. Brenda Price is searching high and low for a select female basketball team. An accident met with Charles McNeely: he broke his shoulder blade while sky-driving. John Dougher is becoming bald as a result of a glaring error: Donald Causby mistook him for a cue stick at Dougher's Billiards, and John's head was chalked before Donald realized what he had done. A new bowling alley was opened by Austin Phillips, who loves the sound of tumbling tenpins. In a recent golf match, pro Johnny Giles forfeited to pro Buzzy Tolbert: Giles 'toed' a ball out of a rough. Wayne Coffey, the kindhearted big game hunter, has returned from his latest safari. Rug cleaners Johnny Kendrick and Arthur Whetstine decided to change professions after having been mangled by the world's only live Kodiak bear rug. Fortunately, they were treated by their secretaries Beulah Taylor and Sybil Stephens."

Just after I finished reading the newspaper, it burst into flames. From the sports section, I managed to save one charred scrap which reads, "Not the Two, Put."!

The Morganton Wildcats, led by captains David Riggs, John Powell, John Giles, and Allen Plaster, enjoyed a truly outstanding football season in 1963. The 'Cats' record showed eight wins and two losses, which wrapped up second place for them in the conference standings. Under the supervision of coaches Broome, Caroway, and Champion, our team proved to be superior.

Morganton began the season by rolling over Valdese 26-13. Halfback Allen Plaster put the 'Cats in the lead with a first-quarter touchdown, a one-yard sneak. For the next two touchdowns Tolbert threw to Riggs and Liebhart.

One week later the 'Cats passed Newton by a 20-6 victory. Riggs figured in every touchdown play, picking up 132 yards rushing in 12 carries.

Broome's boys struck early to shock Lenoir 27-0 in the third game of the season. This game proved to be the shocker of the year. By their dazzling runs, Riggs and Plaster obtained the score, with Giles completing three extra points. Williams, Rusmisell, Plaster, DiBiase, and Powell stood out on defense.

Wilkes Central next came to town and defeated the Wildcats 13-0 in a heart-breaker. The 'Cats showed fight up to the very last second and were inside Wilkes' 30-yard line five times.

Morganton journeyed to East Mecklenburg, where the Eagles shut the door on the crippled Morganton backfield. They hammered the 'Cats to a 26-0 loss.

It was Homecoming time when the mighty Wildcats smothered the Taylorsville Bears 33-0. Riggs scored three touchdowns with 58-, 33-, and 16-yard runs. Thanks to Jerry Liebhart's fine effort, the 'Cats scored again with a 27-yard touchdown pass. Phillips, in a fine performance, scored an 8-yard touchdown which highlighted his hard running. Toad Giles kicked three extra points. The entire Morganton defense performed in a spectacular manner.

The next week, the forceful 'Cats overpowered Hudson 31-20 in an exciting offensive battle. Touchdowns were scored by Liebhart, Phillips, Tolbert, Riggs, and Plaster. The extra point was made by Tolbert's toss to Warlick.

The Wildcats scored early to tame the Tigers of Valdese 35-6. Because of Tolbert's fine passing to Liebhart, combined with Rigg's and Plaster's running, the 'Cats had little trouble making the touchdowns. As usual, Toad kicked the extra points for a total of five. Giles, Farfour, Biggers, Rusmisell, Copeland, Ted Williams, Brenneman, and Whetstine were big trouble for the Tigers on defense.

The Rippers of Marion came to Morganton and were ripped 26-0. Giles and Powell stood out in this last home game, making over half the tackles. The performance of Short and Carswell in the backfield was unusually good.

In the final game of the season, the Wildcats rocked Hickory 21-7. "Lightning" Riggs struck three times for the touchdowns. Toad Giles booted the extra points. Biggers, Giles, Powell, DiBiase, Williams, and Plaster were outstanding on defensive play.

Post-season play permitted Plaster, Powell, Giles, Phillips, and Biggers to participate in the Lions Bowl at Forest City. As a result of his performance, Riggs was selected as an All-State halfback.

The senior players of '63-'64 would like to wish next year's team success at attempting to cap the title, "Number One."

Track

David Biggers winds up in preparation for a track meet.

Diligent training and determination provided MHS with a commendable track season last year. Coach Broome was always there to lend a helping foot when necessary.

Several of the "salt-miners" were outstanding in their respective events:

100-, 200-yard dash	Barry Whetstine
440-yard dash	Steve Copeland
880-yard dash	Dennis Donahue
Mile run	Henry Dickens
Low hurdles	Allen Plaster
Broad jump	Arnold Phillips
	Ted Williams
High jump	Dicky Williams
Shot put	Keith Rusmisell
	Ronald Morris
Discus throw	David Biggers
	Gene Williams
Pole vault	Jerry Liebhart

Although competition was stiff, the track team captured third place in the conference and fourth place in the association.

Managers, Billy Grady and John Reece; Coach Broome.

Golf

Coach Earl Broome confers with Pro Joe Cheves.

Throughout the years the Morganton High School golf team has earned its place among athletics. Year after year the consistently winning golf team has disposed of all challengers, creating a reputation unequalled in any other sport.

Undefeated throughout thirty-four consecutive matches, the win-hungry linksmen have captured the prized WNCHSAA championship trophy four out of five years. The trophy case is overflowing as evidence of the superb training, relentless hours of practice, and unselfish devotion given by the members of the golf team.

Cheerleaders

Sometimes even cheerleaders get out of line.

There's a reason for . . . cheerleaders!

The Morganton High cheerleaders serve a dual purpose: they arouse enthusiasm for sports events of the moment, and they are primarily responsible for the overall school spirit which now characterizes MHS. Seven outstanding girls are selected by a vote of the faculty and student body. Under the direction of Mrs. Amos, the girls practice long hours. Led by chief cheerleader Dawn Donahue, they have sold football programs, decorated the field before home games, and urged the Wildcats on to victory. They have done an excellent job.

Student

In 1957 the first Student Activities Board came into being. This particular form of student government was organized at Morganton High School for these specific purposes: to encourage the wide-spread growth of a vital school spirit, to promote more active participation in the activities and sports connected with the school, and to safe-guard the well-being of all persons connected with Morganton High. Since that time each successive Student Activities Board has done a truly commendable job in fulfilling its individual obligations.

This year's Board is no exception. While it has been confronted with the problems peculiar to its time, its area, and its people, it has met these problems admirably. The presidents of the four classes, the editors of both the newspaper and the yearbook, and the presidents of the fourteen clubs and organizations have combined their efforts for the betterment of Morganton High School.

Under the direction of the Student Board, members of the various clubs have given morning devotions and have made daily announcements over the intercom. Also, at the suggestion of the Board most of the organizations, which have given the students varied learning experiences apart from the classroom routine, have presented or have sponsored assembly programs. Several of these have involved student participation; others have dealt with pertinent topics.

Yet the Student Activities Board's most important projects reach out to the students directly. For instance, each year the Board publishes a directory of names, addresses, and telephone numbers of all students and of all members of the faculty. This is issued free to everyone at MHS. Finally, and of the utmost importance, the Board is endeavoring to foster in each pupil at MHS a personal interest and pride in this, his school. When this interest becomes universal, when increased participation in all phases of school activity makes this pride justified, when our school spirit seeks creative, rather than destructive, means of expression, the Student Activities Board may be deemed an unqualified success.

Chorus

The chorus was organized as a step in elevating the cultural standards of Morganton High School. This talented group studies vocal music and gives public performances from time to time. Its initial success is due to the zeal of instructor and students alike.

Mr. Raymond Babelay, director.

Activities

Our invaluable student photographer, Bill Gifford, has lent his talents to the good of the Cat's Tale.

Editor-in-chief, Dawn Donahue, is describing to Assistant Editor, Sarah Vernon, the trials and tribulations of putting out an annual.

Annual

With a full awareness of the impossibility of our task and with a proportional degree of humility, we, the staff of the 1964 Cat's Tale, have undertaken to present the myriad aspects of Morganton High School to its students and its community alike. The staff has attempted to preserve on the printed page snatches of life at MHS. We have tried to record the activities, the interests, the achievements, the distinctive characteristics of the people in this school—in short, the school's collective personality.

Within the scope of this job, there is employment of all sorts. A major portion of the time allotted for putting together the Cat's Tale is spent in creative activities. Into this general category fall the designing of layouts and the cover and the writing of copy. Yet clerical work also figures prominently in the publication of an annual. There are innumerable lists to be alphabetized, pictures to be taken, identified, and put in the proper place, layouts to be transferred to the "dummy" book, and pages upon pages of various and sundry copy to be typed. Only by long hours of tedious work and by frequent consultations with Mr. Putnam, our advisor, Mrs. Kidd, our proofreader, and Mr. Hunter, our publisher, do we ever manage to "get out" the Cat's Tale.

Editorial Staff: Judy Finger, Mary Helen Whisenant, Marie Kirksey, Sandra Ervin, Susan Settlemyre, Betty Hill Pitts, Libby Cash; Janie Hicks, not pictured.

"Put", our advisor, consults with our Co-Business Managers, Jerry Liebhart and Harold Clark concerning prospective ad layouts.

Miss Cat's Tale, Dawn Donahue; Escort, Charles McNeely.

Staff

Work of such a nature as ours inevitably requires secrecy. We must observe all of life at Morganton High without being blatantly observant of any. We must rack our brains for new ideas—ideas so delicate in their conception that they must wait and gain strength before making their public debut. Our inspirations, our cagey schemes, our merriment and pranks—for creating an annual is often rare fun—are necessarily hatched within the seclusion of the annual room. Only a select few are ever privy to any of the plots devised behind that inscrutable green door. Yet, while being secret, we take great joy in whetting the appetites of the over-curious, in throwing our enigmatic tidbits of information, while never giving anything away.

And thus it goes: we utilize creativity, routine, observation, secrecy, and pleasure—the components of any annual. How well our own combination of these vital ingredients has succeeded you must judge for yourself. If you, the reader, find some satisfaction in our presentation of an all-too-brief stay at Morganton High School, we shall have accomplished our goal.

Junior Business Staff: Scott Cutting, Roby Braswell, and Leslie Farfour.

Business Manager, Charles McNeely, and Sponsor, Mrs. Roberts.

Cauldron

The Cauldron, Morganton High's newspaper, is both a tradition and an essential feature of the school. For, through this publication, pupils are kept informed on a variety of subjects from sports to club activities to gossip of the who's-going-with-whom variety.

This year the Cauldron has altered its format to keep abreast of the changing times and the growing sophistication of its readers. The "Open Forum," a recently initiated feature, offers students not on the Cauldron staff an opportunity to express their opinions on a variety of topics.

Front Row: L. Connelly, P. Bauguss, M. Dale, S. England, B. Randall, K. Woerner. Second Row: J. Wright, W. Burns, J. Smith, J. Williams, J. Hairfield, W. Clay, J. Mallonee.

Special Editors: Front Row: J. Butler, P. Williams, S. Martin, B. Brunson. Second Row: B. Grady, J. Hollifield, S. Inman, J. Penland, B. Abee, J. Whisnant, D. Brothers.

Miss Cauldron, Susan Shoemaker; Escort, Freddy Lee.

Staff

Even the familiar contents have been revised and updated. This fresh approach enhances the interest of senioralities, of interviews of teachers, and of the "Club Corner." Timely and well-written editorials give students pause to think. Of course, the appeal of the "Ima Snoop" column is matchless, and the articles on the various sports are eagerly read. Naturally, the humorous features—many of which poke sly fun at teen-age trends and tendencies—have a wide following.

The Cauldron staff, from editors to reporters, has devoted considerable time and energy in producing a publication of high literary standards and of general appeal to the student body at Morganton High. For these efforts and for the results of these efforts, they are to be congratulated.

Front Row: S. Barry, G. Hoffmeyer, J. R. Ward, L. Elkin, M. C. Sanford, P. Jones. Second Row: S. Jones, F. Hensley, B. Smith, E. Hahn, M. Phifer, K. Young, D. McMahon, J. Arney.

Front Row: G. Hayes, K. Woodie, R. Shuping, L. A. Sigmon, P. Whitaker, E. Brittain. Second Row: L. Hoyle, L. Brown, S. Rudicil, R. Liebhart, P. Morris, J. Sigmon, C. Bronw, G. Parker, M. Sigmon. Third Row: R. Williams, M. McCall, J. Parker, D. Wilson, B. Cash, A. Phillips, B. Bingham, C. Sossoman, M. Sanderford, D. Walker.

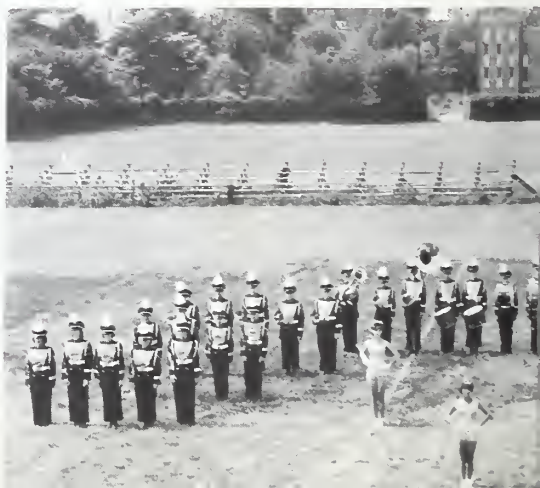
Majorettes: Andrea McNeely, Judy Simmons, Sharon Ferree, Jackie Hensley, Susan McNeely.

Director: Mr. Raymond Babelay.

Morganton

The Morganton High School Band, under the able direction of Mr. Raymond Babelay and his assistant Mr. James Graber, is an integral part of life at MHS. During the football season, it entertains the crowds with intricate precision drills, supplemented by the colorful routines of our five majorettes. In addition, this marching group has participated in various parades throughout the area.

In December the band makes a smooth transition from the marching to the concert season. The annual Christmas assembly



R. Patton, B. Simmons, P. Souther, B. Gifford, J. Patton, B. Hoyle, A. Irvin. Fourth Row: H. Seitz, C. Craver, R. Evans, D. Turner, B. Woody, C. Hogshead, J. Stroupe, F. Braswell, G. Tallent, B. Lennon, A. Smith, J. Weller, J. Hawkins. R. Puett, R. Kirk, H. McKinney, G. Duckworth.

High Band

program and the Christmas and Spring Concerts are always received enthusiastically by both the student body and the general public.

Individual members, as well as the band as a unit, have received state-wide recognition for their ability—a deserved reward for their hard work and constant rehearsal. Through its contributions to the school, the community, and the field of music, our band has established a record of which its members can be proud.

IRIS GRAYBEAL
Miss Boys' "M" Club

That Friday night, October 4, 1963, had thus far been perfect. The weather was just right—cool but comfortable. The Morganton High stadium had been filled to capacity early with an excited crowd. Our Wildcats were leading the Taylorsville Bears in a game that culminated in a 33-0 victory. Throughout its halftime show, the band had performed excellently. The fifteen homecoming sponsors had been presented and stood expectantly on the football field, facing the spectators. Then Mr. Raymond Babelay made the announcement for which all had been waiting: "Miss Homecoming for 1963, Miss Iris Graybeal!" A stunned but radiant Iris took her place under the arch of ivy to receive her crown and roses from Eddie Beach, who represented the Student Activities Board.

Still in a happy daze, Iris reigned over the homecoming dance and collected a wealth of memories of the best homecoming ever.

Junior-Senior

The mystery and enchantment of the South Sea Islands were brought to the Morganton High Juniors and Seniors last May 10th as they embarked upon a "Hawaiian Holiday." The beautifully painted tropical scenes, the tempting food so artfully prepared, and the soft strains of the combo lent a glow of romance to an already glorious evening.

For the Juniors the gala atmosphere in the gymnasium dispelled the memories of having been paint-spattered and exhausted only the night before. The planning and preparation which had consumed so many hours now seemed worthwhile and rewarding.

At the designated hour the entranced dancers departed to a succession of post-prom parties, taking with them a lasting impression of one of the most memorable evenings of their high school years.

The servers, dressed as Hawaiian natives, added to the tropical atmosphere.

Faculty as well as students enjoyed the dance.
